Dennis W. Torrence

Outstanding Young Ag Teacher In Va.

Dennis W. Torrence, agricultural education instructor at Appomattox County High School, was named "VVATA Outstanding Young Member" in Virginia at the 54th Annual Conference of the Virginia Vocational Agriculture Teachers held in Blacksburg, Va.

Competing with other Virginia agricultural teachers with 5 years or less teaching experience, Torrence was the second Appomattox teacher to receive this recognition in the past three years. W. T. Johnson received the award in 1969.

Among the accomplishments of this year's winner include: Vice President of the Virginia Vocational Agricultural Teachers Association (VVATA), State chairman of VVATA Public Relations Comm., State reporter for VVA Newsletter for VVATA, State chairman for the Advisory Council for Agricultural Teacher Education in Virginia, and President of Southside Area Agricultural Teachers Association.

As co-advisor to Appomattox FFA chapters, members have accomplished the following: 1 State FFA President, 1 State Secretary, 1 State Vice Pres., 16 State Farmers, 15 Area Foundation Award winners, 6 State Foundation award winners, National Gold Emblem Chapter for 3 years, Winner of Top Chapter Contest in Virginia 2 years, 2 time winner of the State Chapter Wildlife Contest, and 2 time winner of State Chapter Wildlife Contest.

Other accomplishments include: Author of Advisors Teaching Guide on FFA, a 16 page guide for teaching agstudents about leadership and the FFA, distributed nationally; Director for a pilot vocational program for 7th and 8th graders at Appomattox Intermediate School for Virginia; Member of the National Ad Hoc Comm. to study the formation of a National FFA Alumni Association; Member of National FFA Comm. to discuss and recommend changes in the FFA National Chapter Award Program; Author of articles published in 2 national ag magazines and 3 state magazines; and one of 4 ag teachers in the U. S. selected in 1968 to participate in the National FFA Fellowship Program in Washington, D.C., Attended the University of Md. and trained one year in the National FFA Office.

Dennis is 30 years of age and is a native of Appomattox County. He is married to the former Patricia Thomas of Spout Spring. The Torrences have one 11 month old son, Zane Thomas, and reside at Rt. 2, Appomattox.

Retiring Sheriff Is Honored

Sheriff L. L. Stanley (center), guest of honor at a retirement dinner Wed. June 30, at Maude's displays a rod and reel presented by the sheriff's department. (on the left) Col. D. W. Woodson (ret.) for 33 years Supt. Va. State Police and a long-time friend and colleague of the sheriff. (At right), Mrs. Stanley, who helped to keep the dinner and gifts a secret. The board of supervisors, employees of the Commissioner of Revenue, employees of the judges' offices, clerk's office, treasurer's office, and commonwealth attorney's office presented the sheriff with the tackle box (foreground.)

In Sheriff L. L. Stanley's earliest days as an officer, his mode of transportation was a motorcycle. (Above), in billed cap and long leather boots he was ready for duty at the Winchester Apple Blossom Festival. At the present time there are more troopers stationed in the Appomattox Division of State Police than in the whole state when Len went to work. Then, officers delivered license plates to individuals, went on patrol and investigated accidents. Len covered an area which included the counties of Amherst, Appomattox, Campbell and Nelson and the City of Lynchburg.

Richardson To Complete Term Of L. L. Stanley

Sheriff Leslie Lynwood Stanley retired on Wednesday, June 30 and was surprised with a dinner, testimonials and gifts at Maude's Restaurant that same evening by members of the sheriff's department, elected county officials, judges and two of the sheriff's former supervisors, Capt. W. W. Blythe (ret.) Va. State Police and Col. C. W. Woodson, Jr. of Richmond, Supt. Va. State Police for 33 years and now a Director of the Va. Law Enforcement Training Commission.

Named by Circuit Court Judge G. F. Abbitt, Jr. to take Sheriff Stanley's place for the remainder of Stanley's term (6 mos. ending Dec. 31, 1971 is J. E. (Gene) Richardson, who has been serving the county as deputy sheriff since 1964. Sheriff Richardson was sworn in by Circuit clerk Aldah Gordon on the 30th.

The dinner for 'Len' Stanley, as he is affectionately known, was a well-kept secret as nearly fifty friends and co-workers were at their places at Maude's when he and Mrs. Stanley entered the private dining area.

A corsage of white carnations was presented to Mrs. Stanley and a boutonniere to the retiring sheriff.

For each guest there was steak and all the trimmings followed by fruit cobbler for dessert.

A welcome was given by the newly appointed Sheriff, Gene Richardson.

Toastmaster was Commonwealth's Attorney Harry Gordon Lawson who introduced Sheriff Stanley's long-time friend and co-worker, Col. Woodson.

A lifelong native of Appomattox County since 1963. His law enforcement career started some 32 years earlier when he was appointed an officer for the Division of Motor Vehicles, one of about only 12 such officers in the entire state of Va.

Out of that first dozen or so officers in the division, three were from Appomattox county or nearby. They were Alex Bingham from Appomattox and O. E. Snell from nearby Red House in Campbell County, both deceased, and Len.

T. McCall Frazier was the first head of the Division. Years later, this DMV branched off to the Va. State Police and so Stanley retired from the Va. State Police in 1963 in order to run successfully for the office of sheriff of Appomattox County.

Stanley, born in 1903, was the eldest of 11 children born to Mr. and Mrs. W. Harrington Stanley, now deceased. His earliest home was near Hebron Church on what has been known recently as the John Burnette Farm. Later, the family moved to 'Rocky Farm' better known as 'Eldoe', home of the late Congressman Hal. D. Flood and his family.

Len attended Appomattox Agricultural High School and before graduation married Vara Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Holmes Smith. They are the parents of two daughter, Rosetta, now Mrs. Mark W. Saurs of Richmond and mother of three children; and Shirley, now Mrs. Alfred Ray Gordon of Hampton, mother of two boys.

Col. Woodson, in his tribute to Len said that the sheriff had taught him two important things: never to become irritated and to become an optimist. Col. Woodson said, further, that Len Stanley "has put more into life than he gets out of it" and "that the world is a better place because of him."

Circuit Court Judge G. F. Abbitt, Jr. read a resolution passed by the Appomattox County Board of Supervisors attesting to the quality of his performance as a law enforcement officer and to his many contributions to the

The conference leader will be T. J. Wakeman, professor of agricultural mechanics at VPI. The workshop will begin at 9 a. m.

H. B. Pack, instructor of agricultural education in the Appomattox County High School, is in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

Farm Credit Bill Goes Before Congress

Persons seeking to build or buy "country lane" homes would have a new source of loan funds available to them with passage of a farm Credit bill now before Congress.

According to J. F. Glenn, manager of the Farmville Farm Credit office, the bill would authorize Federal Land Banks to make real estate mortgage loans for non-farm rural homes – those located, outside of towns or built-up areas. Presently the only housing loans Land Banks can make are for homes on operating farms.

The Appomattox Chamber of Commerce will meet at Farmer's National Bank at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, July 15. Board members are urged to be present and any other members are also invited to attend. Capt. W. W. Blythe (ret.) is president.

Newly Appointed Sheriff & Deputy

Newly appointed sheriff of Appomattox County is J. E. (Gene) Richardson (above, left) standing with deputy sheriff C. A. Motley (right) who also serves as jailer. Sheriff Richardson brings with him into the position just vacated by Sheriff L. L. Stanley more than seven and one-half years of service to the county. Two other deputies serve under him, C. A. Reynolds and C. B. Rickmond. James R. Ford is the Town policeman and is also a deputy sheriff working in cooperation with the sheriff's department. Mrs. C. A. Motley is matron of the jail and Mrs. Jimmy Rogers (Peggy) is secretary for the sheriff's department. The county has 24-hour answering service for emergencies and fire protection and there is two-way communication with the fire department and the Rescue Squad. Sheriff Richardson, serving out the last six months of L. L. Stanley's term, has announced his candidacy for the November election to continue as sheriff.
